

WELCOME TO VOLUME 9, ISSUE TWO OF "WEEDER'S DIGEST"

SPEAKER SERIES ALERT

Time Change:

- 9:00 AM Refreshments
- 9:30 AM Club business meeting
- 10:00 AM Debra Lee Baldwin Presentation

October 11 will be the first of our Speaker Series. Please arrive early and park in the Lumberyard parking area, 521 Forest Avenue. There will be a $3 fee for all day parking which eliminates any worries about expired meters and allows us to enjoy our fabulous town for lunch and shopping after the meeting. Please DO NOT park in the lot behind Tankersley Hall.

Also, keep in mind there will be increased traffic as our membership attendance will be much higher than normal and we also have many guests attending.

Since there will not be a Handout and because Ms. Baldwin makes many references to information in her newest book, Succulents Simplified (June 2013), it is advised that you arrive a bit earlier than 9AM to purchase Debra Lee Baldwin's books. Having Succulents Simplified in your possession during her presentation will greatly enhance your experience. Her books will be available for purchase at 8:30AM and then again after her speech. Ms. Baldwin will be available for book signings both before and after her presentation.

We still need more refreshments for the October 11 meeting. Please contact Dixie Henry, dixiehenry@msn.com, to let her know if you will be able to bring finger food. Please deliver your tasty morsels by 8:45 AM.

OCTOBER 2013

VOLUME 9, ISSUE 2

SUCCULENTS SIMPLIFIED

Debra Lee Baldwin's latest book, Succulents Simplified: Growing, Designing and Crafting with 100 Easy-Care Varieties, introduces the best succulents for gardens and containers, explains how to grow and use them, and gives step-by-step methods for design-oriented projects.

"Succulents Simplified is a guide for novice enthusiasts, a quick reference for anyone seeking a good overview, and a vehicle for design ideas. I'm excited about," Debra says. "Throughout the book, I give my perspective on a subject that has become my passion."

Debra specializes in showing how top floral and garden designers use dynamic, sculptural succulents in a wide variety of eye-catching applications. Her own garden, which has been in Sunset and Better Homes & Gardens, is in the foothills northeast of San Diego, where temps range from below freezing to upwards of 100 degrees.

"Succulents", Debra explains, "are plants that drink responsibly. They store water in fleshy leaves and stems to survive dry spells, like when you forget to water them. They're a terrific option for good-looking, low-maintenance landscapes and containers."

Debra, a garden photojournalist, got her start writing about homes, gardens, architecture and interior design for the San Diego Union-Tribune, then went on to scout, write and shoot for major magazines. In 2005, her editor at Sunset suggested she do a book on succulents. "That changed my life," Debra says.

Designing with Succulents came out in 2007 and spent 19 weeks on Amazon's list of the Top Ten Bestselling Gardening Books. The sequel, Succulent Container Gardens (2010), topped the charts as well. Like Succulents Simplified both are from Timber Press, the nation's leading publisher of gardening books.

DEBRA LEE BALDWIN'S BOOKS AND WEBSITES

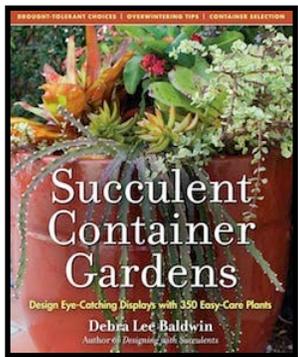

Every plant shown in all three of Debra's books will do great in Laguna Beach which, according to Debra, has the ideal climate for succulents. Debra will be selling and signing all three of her books at our October meeting. She accepts cash, credit card and checks made payable to: Debra Lee Baldwin

Debra introduces 100 of the best succulents for gardens and containers, explains how to grow them, and gives step-by-step methods for using them in appealing, design-oriented projects

This, is her third book about succulents, a kind of prequel to the previous two. It's a guide for novice enthusiasts, a quick reference for anyone seeking a good overview, and a vehicle for presenting design ideas she's excited about. Throughout, she shares her perspective on a subject that has become her passion.

"Ms. Baldwin's step-by-step projects for crafters as well as numerous container and dish gardens give Succulents Simplified a wider appeal than a straight gardening book. It's the perfect starter volume for those new to succulents, while satisfying and delighting veterans with the variation and solid growing tips based on the author's evident joy in succulents and cacti." -- New York Journal of Books

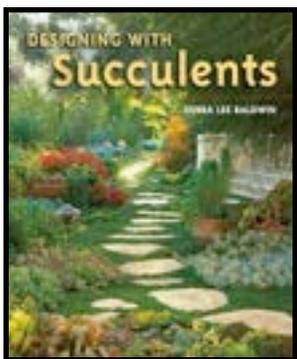

Shows how anyone regardless of climate or space constraints can grow sculptural, low-water succulents in a wide variety of easy-care and beautiful potted gardens.

BOARD MEMBER PROFILE

LYNN JAX: VICE PRESIDENT PROGRAMS

I look forward to our new 2013-14 season for Garden Club and serving as your Vice President, who also happens to be in charge of programs. I truly enjoy my "job" in procuring our speakers. This year's line-up should prove to be full of entertaining and informative speakers with a wide range of topics.

To give you a little background of myself, I joined Garden Club in the fall of 2009 when I retired after teaching English for 37 years, both junior high [10 years] and at Laguna Hills High School [27 years]. My very dear friend, Diane Kloke, invited me to join because she knows my energy level and thought I would enjoy making new friends. Not only have I made new friends, but I am always learning more about gardening from our speakers, members, Green Thumb activities, and the terrific Tours and Travel program. When Joyce Conway approached me about taking on the responsibilities of Vice President, I was hesitant because I felt I was a "newbie", not only to the club but also as a gardener. All of you who know Joyce, know that she can be very convincing, so I took the bait "hook, line, and sinker" and agreed. I have not regretted one minute of my decision.

My husband, Perry, and I love to travel. As we were both teachers, we would take advantage of our summers to rejuvenate ourselves by seeing as many new places as we could, within our budget and time constraints, of course. And we continue to travel now that we are both retired. In fact I think my husband has started a new career as not only a terrific photographer but as my personal travel agent. He is always planning our next trip before the current one is finished. And since I've been in Garden Club, I have a heightened awareness of new plants, gardens, flowers, etc. I encounter that I've learned about from my exposure to our club's activities.

We have two grown children, ages 29 and 31. My daughter lives locally and my son lives in Oregon. I have lived in Laguna Beach since 1977. I was born in Detroit, Michigan and moved to Southern California when I was 13 years old. What a great move that was. I am also involved in the Assistance League of Laguna Beach as a Professional status member (a smaller group of working women who meet 6-7 times a year in the evening to work on philanthropic activities associated with ALLB). And as a former English teacher, of course I am in a book club. And in my free time, (what free time?), I enjoy shopping and having lunch with friends.

If you come across a great speaker, please collect their contact information for me and let me know. I am always on the "hunt" for the next season.

Lynn

PLEASE WELCOME OUR NEW MEMBERS

POLLY DIX: MEMBERSHIP

We are very fortunate to have the following new members as part of Laguna Beach Garden Club. Because the business aspect of our October meeting will be abbreviated, the board has opted to have Polly Dix's interviews presented via the Weeder's Digest. Jeanne will have each new member stand at the October meeting so you can visually be introduced as well. Please enjoy the interviews and make welcome the following new members.

GENE COSTELLO has lived in Mission Viejo but now resides in Laguna Niguel and is friends with several other garden club members that get together and make a day of garden club. For 15 years she has volunteered at the Hospital Library and Hospice. She plays golf and is in a book club. For several years she shared a plot in the Leisure World Garden with her friends and grew some fantastic tomatoes but those circumstances changed and now all her plants must grow in pots. Gene is anxious to learn other planting techniques to make her garden look beautiful. Gene is also an active bird watcher.

Most of us probably saw and admired the historical 1927 cottage and garden of COLLEEN FRIEDLY on Lombardy Lane during our latest garden tour. Colleen's early life was spent in Los Angeles as she was born at the French Catholic Hospital near China Town then worked many years at the Auto Club also in L.A.. Colleen attended UCI and is a graduate in Women's Studies. Instead of just pulling weeds, she wants to know more about plants and gardening techniques...and you may see her attending many of the Rogers Garden's seminars.

CAROL BASLER has lived in Irvine for 51 years and grooms Carrie Blue Terriers. She currently has three of her own and the latest one acquired is 7 months old from Russia. Still in the puppy stage this rascal has fun jumping into their Koi Pond making a mess of things. For 13 years she has owned and rides her Arabian horse that is currently boarded in Norco and feels a close attachment because she had a hand in its conception. Her family was all involved growing bearded Iris and some members of the family were judges but Carol related she has not had much luck growing them here in Irvine.

BECKY DOMBROWSKY lives in Irvine and originally from Michigan and has been in Property Management business until retirement mainly handling all landscape and plant materials to be used at the properties. She is considering going with colorful native plants in her own garden very soon. Lately she travels to Northern California to be with her 3 and 4 year old granddaughters. But when she gets a chance, she will call Nashville a favorite place to visit.

BETH FITZGERALD is not new to Laguna. Currently she is living on Jasmine Street, but she has had several breaks and lived elsewhere because of her husband's business. She now feels she is here to stay. She has raised four adult children and all the while volunteered with Meals on Wheels, Road to Recovery, Hospice and found artistic talents with stationery and invitation designing. Beth has also found time to bike, swim and play tennis. Now she will try to indulge in more attention to her garden.

DALYNN MALEK lives in Laguna Niguel and has taught art and photography at Laguna Hills High School for 39 years. Her long time friend, Lynn Jax, revealed that Dalynn was also California State Teacher of the Year, has taught at UCI, and is involved in Arts Education at the County level. She can't hide her creative talents. Dalynn is proficient in Desktop Publishing, painting, garden crafts as well as fabric, art and graphic design! In the future, she would be interested in organizing local garden trips which are always fun for the club members. She grew up in Newport Beach and attended Corona Del Mar High School and was a cheerleader. Currently she is traveling in Japan. She enjoys Asian culture and is looking forward to seeing many Japanese styled gardens.

JAN KAIN and ANN LESTER'S profiles will be in next month's newsletter.

WATERWISE DESCRIBES THE EXPERIENCE YOU'LL HAVE THIS WAY...

"We hope you will find your visit an enjoyable "escape to the country" with beautiful vistas and the perfect place to explore ideas, as you stroll through countless varieties of roses, the exotic world of succulents and cacti, eye-popping perennials, graceful ornamental grasses, and unusual shrubs and trees. We are one of the largest suppliers of landscape roses, cacti, and succulents in southern California and delight in bringing you new and introduced varieties of plant materials as well. Many of our visitors enjoy seeing the Golden Barrels, and combination of succulent colors, like pieces of a quilt on our hillside. Keep in mind we are a working nursery and part of the "experience" will include mounds of steaming mulch, orange tractors, field workers watering, planting, pulling orders and loading delivery trucks. Your visit will feel like a field trip! You are invited to bring your cameras, comfortable walking shoes, your coffee or lunch, kids, and dogs (on leash). Our roads can be wet at times and uneven from use. You are welcome to sniff and pinch, and enjoy the natural surroundings, including birds, butterflies, lizards, pollywogs (in season), fish and fresh air."

We had the opportunity to promote our amazing speakers, many of whom provide education in sustainable gardening practices, such as using organic products and water wise plants.

In addition to meeting many interesting people, we collected over $300.00 in donations, opportunity tickets and garden glove sales.

On September 21 and 22, the Laguna Beach County Water District invited the public to it's fourth annual SmartScape Info/Expo event where they highlighted and promoted the benefits of using California friendly plants and efficient irrigation techniques in landscapes.

October Tips: Southern California

It's a great time to plant perennials

October Tips: Southern California

As the weather cools and the sun moves lower in the sky, reset your irrigation timer to water less frequently. However, don't change the number of minutes the system waters each time. As the weather cools and the sun moves lower in the sky, reset your irrigation timer to water less frequently. However, don't change the number of minutes the system waters each time.

Planting Trees and Shrubs -- It's time to get planting again. The pleasant weather is great for planting perennials, ground covers, herbs, roses, and trees and shrubs. It's also ideal for planting native plants, trees, shrubs, and perennials. And don't forget native wildflowers. They'll germinate beautifully with the winter rains.

Planting Trees and Shrubs

- It's also the time to plant beds with cool-season flowers, such as pansies, calendula, candytuft, foxgloves, snapdragons, sweet peas, stock, and sweet alyssum.
- Also plant cool-season veggies and herbs, such as broccoli, carrots, cauliflower, cilantro, dill, fennel, lettuces and greens, parsley, potatoes, radishes, and peas.
- In hot desert regions, warm-season plants can also be sown or transplanted, with the exception of corn and melons, which should be planted in late winter.
- Plant South African bulbs, such as babiana, crocosmia, freesia, ipheion, ixia, and watsonia. Also plant oxalis and Tazetta-type narcissus, including paperwhites. Now is also a good time to plant lilies.
- Pre-chill the bulbs that need it for spring bloom, including tulips, hyacinths, and crocuses. You can buy anemones, daffodils, grape hyacinths, and ranunculus now but don't plant them in the ground just yet. Store them in a cool, dry place, such as your garage, to plant next month.
- In all but the very warmest regions, hold off on planting tropicals, which may be injured by frost. They include bananas, citrus, avocado, heliconia, gingers, palms, and hibiscus. It's best to plant them in late spring.

Dividing Perennials -- Now is a good time to divide perennials, especially those that bloom in the spring. This way, they'll have time to establish themselves before it's time to flower.

Dividing Perennials

- Remove the remnants of the warm-season plantings, including warm-season annual flowers, herbs, and vegetables that have faded.

Smart Pruning -- Prune trees and shrubs as needed, cutting out dead branches and shaping plants in preparation for winter growth.

Smart Pruning

- Cut back geraniums (Perlagonium) to renew them and prevent unsightly, leggy growth.
- Fertilize lawns, using a product made especially for fall, if possible. Fall is also a good time to dethatch and aerate your lawn.
- If you are overseeding with fescue or rye for winter, quit feeding and watering Bermuda lawns and overseed them now. Otherwise, continue to feed and water Bermuda lawns to delay their dormancy.

Feeding Roses -- Fertilize roses to encourage further bloom.
